The rules and regulations that VCH Short-Term Missions subscribes to are for the purpose of the safety and well-being of each participant, as well as to keep a high standard of Christian integrity necessary to effectively minister across cultural boundaries. These rules and regulations will be enforced by the VCH staff, including those in voluntary leadership positions. We expect participants and parents to comply with disciplinary decisions made. All participants are expected to strictly adhere to the stated rules and regulations. Blatant offenders will be sent home. The offender and / or his parents are responsible for all costs involved in sending the disobedient participant home, including air fare, transportation, hotel, food, and any other cost incurred.
